

"It is one of the best pressed mineral foundations due to its superior texture, application, and blendability."

as seen in...

PAULA'S
CHOICE Superior Skin Care, Expert Information
From Paula Begoun, The Cosmetics Cop™

Best & Worst Products

September 2009

BEST

✓ 😊 $$$ gloMinerals gloPressed Base Powder Foundation ($39). This is the pressed (and less messy) version of gloMinerals' gloLoose Base Powder Foundation. Like the Loose version, this has a mica base and application that feels silky and slightly creamy but sets to a dry matte finish that feels remarkably smooth and offers a soft, non-sparkling glow to skin. It is one of the best pressed mineral foundations due to its superior texture, application, and blendability. It also manages to not look flat or dull on skin, though overdoing this definitely results in a powdery look that can accentuate lines. This is still highly recommended for fans of mineral makeup that have normal to slightly dry or oily skin.

"This has a mica base and application that feels silky and slightly creamy but sets to a dry matte finish that feels remarkably smooth and offers a soft, non-sparkling glow to skin."